

Hana Valibeik

Senior Graphic Designer | Brand & UI

I’m a self-taught Senior Graphic Designer and Illustrator with over 7 years of experience in branding, UI design, and visual communication. I create visually strong, functional solutions that clarify brand identity, improve usability, and make communication more effective. My work starts with understanding context and goals, then translating them into clear, consistent, and scalable visual systems. I pay close attention to typography, layout, and color—always in service of the overall experience. I’ve worked with teams across different industries, from cultural projects to digital products, delivering work that is both effective and user-focused.
